MILK DEALERS EXPLAIN REASONS FOR PRICE THEY CHARGE CUSTOMERS

Intimate That Price Must Soon Go Higher to Meet Increase to be Paid Producers--Duplication of Routes Adds Needlessly to Cost of Distribution--Little Said About Inferior Product Sold at Same Price as Good Milk.

The hearing before Commissioner Porter, of the division of farms and markets, as part of the investigation which has been conducted by his division in regard to the price of milk in Kingston, was held at the court house in this city Monday afternoon and was attended by about a dozen of the local milk dealers.

Inspector O'Donnell, of the division of farms and markets, has been making a personal investigation here for some time and questionnaires sent out by the division to the milk dealers were filled in with the information requested and returned. The milk dealers who were examined at Monday's hearing all said they had no objection to a summary of the information they had so furnished being made public by Commissioner Porter in connection with his report.

Seward Miller, counsel of the department of farms and markets, accompanied Commissioner Porter and aided in the examination of the witnesses. The testimony was taken by a stenographer. The milk dealers were not represented by counsel but John E. Kraft, president of the Kingston Dairy Company, at times acted as their spokesman. The Chamber of Commerce, on whose request the investigation was made, was represented by Secretary Hudson and County Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

The hearing was opened by Commissioner Porter, who announced that the investigation was being conducted by the Department of Foods and Markets at the request of the Chamber of Commerce. The investigation already made was being supplemented by the present hearing, and to expedite matters, he would begin with the examination of milk dealers.

John E. Kraft, president of the Kingston Dairy Company, said that while the Chamber of Commerce evidently was represented by counsel the milk producers and distributors had no attorney to look after their interests.

County uJdge Joseph M. Fowler said he did not appear in the capacity of a lawyer but merely as a member of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce. That organization did not appear as complainant against anyone, but there had been a great deal of talk about prices and it had been believed the investigation might be conducive to some good.

Mr. Kraft said he merely wished to have it understood that the dealers were not present on charges of any sort that they had been doing anything wrong.

John H. Beatty was the first witness called and said he had been a milk distributor for thirteen years and also was a producer, his farm lying partly in the city of Kingston and partly in the town of Ulster. He owned twenty-eight cows and all his milk comes to Kingston. Besides producing, he also buys from 175 to 250 quarts daily from two or three dairies, dependent on the season. Since last September he had been charging 15 cents a quart or eight cents a pint; he sold cream for 25 cents per half pint. Cream-customers want pretty good cream. His milk is skimmed by hand and he does not use a separator.

In Mr. Beatty's opinion, the fair differential between production and distribution is 7½ cents per quart. Milk now being bought from dairies was costing him 7¼ cents, but during the winter he had paid 9 cents, regardless of the percentage of butter fats. Surplus milk is converted into butter and he also sells some buttermilk during summer, but in winter he feeds it to the pigs.

Ice was used by him only in caring for the milk, and in making out his questionnaire he figured his ice bill on what he would have to pay wholesale in Kingston if he bought ice here—$7.50 per ton. Last year he harvested his own ice. In caring for milk he uses ice the entire year. As nearly as he could, he had used his judgment honestly in making estimates in filling out the questionnaire.

Mr. Beatty said his daily labor expense had been stated in the questionnaire to be $20.25 per day, figuring the time of those employed to attend to the milk and the time of his son and himself, as he considered he was entitled to figure on his own time the same as other business men. No labor charged for in the questionnaire was used on the farm except that of one boy. Two boys attended school after finishing with their milk route, and he included their wages at the scale paid to boys.

Some days he distributed 450 quarts and some days 570 quarts, for which he figured approximately one-half ton of ice per day. Three separate tanks were used for keeping the milk; the first was a concrete tank, built when he started in the milk business with 250 quarts of milk daily; then he built a wooden tank as the business was enlarged and then a separate tank for the cream cans. The price of $7.50 per ton for ice was the wholesale price delivered in Kingston, he had no equipment for delivering ice. He did not sell skim milk. As to dip milk, he did not see how he could put in out cheaper to the consumer than bottle milk because the delay created in dipping and carrying amounted to as much as the loss on bottles.

Three years ago, said Mr. Beatty, the dealers had formed a club or association—an organization of some kind, whose purpose had been to prevent the use of one dealer's bottles by another dealer. From that point, the dealers got to discussing the undermining of one dealer's business by other dealers selling at a loss merely in order to get a customer. The association had met twice in the past year; he did not think officers ever had been elected but he was called the president and Mr. Kraft was called the secretary. The dealers held a meeting last fall before they had raised the price from 13 to 15 cents, and at that time discussed increased costs and probable further increases.

In order to hold some of his trade, it was necessary to get the milk around by a certain time; some men went to work at eight o'clock, others at seven o'clock, and this necessitated keeping two men and two boys on the delivery routes.

"All that adds to the cost?" asked Commissioner Porter.

"It does," admitted Mr. Beatty, who said he was using four people and two rigs for delivering from 450 to 500 quarts daily. If it were not for the severe competition here, he could deliver practically 400 quarts per rig, "if the public was willing to wait and take the milk when he saw fit to deliver it."

"Do you consider your method of delivering milk an economical matter?" inquired Commissioner Porter.

"Under the circumstances, yes," replied Mr. Beatty.

"Then you consider that having a business split up among twenty men, who are duplicating each others' work and covering the same territory twice, is more efficient and economical than having it under one head, with one efficient management?" asked Dr. Porter.

"The milk business is different from other businesses," said Mr. Beatty.

"Your overhead charges are necessarily multiplied," said Dr Porter, "and you have duplication of routes; now I ask you as an economical proposition whether it would not be better to have these businesses under one management that would do away with such duplications?"

"You could reduce it a little," said Mr. Beatty, "but whether it would be satisfactory to your customer or not ——"

"I am not speaking of the customers," said Dr. Porter, "I am speaking of the matter as an economical proposition."

Mr. Beatty said it would reduce the cost somewhat.

Asked whether he had kept account of the cost of harvesting ice, Mr. Beatty said he considered himself in the same position as a dealer who had to buy his ice and as a matter of fact his ice had not actually cost the amount of money he had figured on the questionnaire, except by comparison with dealers who must buy their ice.

In selling cream, he said, he could not tell whether it was 20, 40 or 60 per cent cream.

"Then how do you arrive at the price?" inquired Dr. Porter.

"We give the best cream we can," said Mr. Beatty, "and the people seem to think it is pretty good."

"Then if you do not give the same percentage of cream for two days, it's guess work on your part?"

Mr. Beatty thought it was

Augustus Elmendorf and two others supply milk to him, said Mr. Beatty, and he paid them the league price—had to sign up with them in order to get the milk.

"Then you pay for your cream over three per cent?" inquired Dr. Porter.

"We're paying one cent more than in New York," said Mr. Beatty.

Dr. Porter said that throughout the state there is a certain price for three per cent milk, and after that there is an increase in price as the percentage is raised.

Mr. Beatty said the local board of health called for 3.5 milk, and the price is based on that. The league price in Kingston last month was 7¼ cents; he did not know what the price was in Oneida county.

"That's quite an important point," commented Dr. Porter.

Ever since organization of the league, said Mr. Beatty, Kingston dealers had paid about one cent more per quart than elsewhere because the regulation of the board of health calling for 3.5 per cent of butter fats.

"You'll find you pay the same here as other parts of the state pay for butter fats," said Dr. Porter.

In reply, Mr. Beatty said some producers brought in milk that would stand the 3 per cent test, but lots of milk brought in would not stand a 3 per cent test. The board of health would not allow milk from different dairies to be mixed, and in his own case, he was compelled to keep separate the milk bought from different

HENRY MOYLE IS CAPTURED

Henry Moyle, alleged to have fired the shot that caused the death of Rose B. Terwilliger on the Knox Headquarters farm in the town of New Windsor, Orange county, last Thursday, was arrested Monday afternoon at the Erie station in Newburgh by Policeman Albert W. Wiltsie, and is now confined in the Goshen jail. He was waiting to take a train to his former home when captured. In a suit case which he carried was found a .32 calibre revolver fully loaded, with which it is believed the murder was committed, and also a jeweled bar pin, a gold watch and chain and two pearl buttons, all belonging to Mrs. Terwilliger.

Previous to his arraignment before Justice Greaney of New Windsor, Moyle was taken to the scene of Mrs. Terwilliger's death, where he denied, as he had done since his arrest, that he was the man wanted and gave two or three names by which he said he was known. The blood stains on the floor affected him not at all and he disclaimed any knowledge of the woman or the house and its surroundings. He was identified, however, despite his having shaved off his moustache, bought new clothes and in other ways altered his appearance, by several people in the village. He was taken to Goshen in an auto.

AMERICA'S CUP ABOUT TO GO

Is Belief of Many Who Saw Shamrock Outsail Defender in Yesterday's Race—Resolute Must Win Three Straight to Retain Trophy Held Here Seventy Years.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Aboard U. S. Destroyer Goldsborough off Sandy Hook, July 21.—(By wireless)—That historic bit of silver—the America's Cup—which has been so ably defended by American yachtsmen for seventy years, may pass to Sir Thomas Lipton before sundown.

With two victories safely tucked away in the international series against the defender, Resolute, the great green challenger Shamrock looked like a certain winner as she prepared to enter the third race of the series today and those who have consistently backed Resolute to defend the cup had little or nothing to say.

In order to turn the approaching tide of complete defeat aside, Resolute must win three straight races from her sturdy masted and heavy sailed rival.

And those who have seen Shamrock IV do some uncanny things in light airs, do not believe this is possible.

Yesterday's race was a fairly fought contest in which Captain Burton's sailing skill was vindicated and the challenging yacht showed its real merits. Deducting handicap time, the Shamrock slid across the finish line 2 minutes and 26 seconds ahead of the American boat, after leading the way around the triangular course with the exception of part of the first leg. The wind was light throughout the race.

The official time for yesterday's race follows:

	Elapsed Time
	1st Turn	2d Turn	Finish
	H M. S.	H. M. S.	H. M. S.
Shamrock ..	2 12 40	1 58 01	5 22 18
Resolute ...	2 16 15	2 05 55	5 24 44

INVESTIGATE EXPLOSION.

Police Believe Moonshine Still Blew-up Killed Four Persons.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Jersey City, N. J., July 21.—The police are today conducting a searching investigation into the cause of an explosion in the saloon of Andrew Polski here, which caused the death of Polski's wife and three of his four children. Three others, Adam Kovalski, his wife and daughter, were trapped on an upper story in the fire which followed the explosion and were seriously burned. The authorities charge that the explosion was caused by a "moonshine still."

Polski was arrested on a charge of manslaughter as a result of the deaths. His bartender, Frank Karasowski, was also taken into custody on the same charge. Polski, the police say, told them he had gone into a storeroom where he kept a large supply of alcohol, with a lighted candle.

HUGO SAYS HE WILL STAND PAT

By Telegraph to The Freeman:

Albany, N. Y., July 21—Whisperings in political circles that Secretary of State Hugo, aspirant for the Republican nomination for governor, would not make a primary fight in the event the coming Saratoga convention declined to designate him, were emphatically denied today by Mr. Hugo.

Rumors that the "bosses" had appeased Mr. Hugo's ambitions by offering him the lieutenant-governorship, were as readily put to rout.

"You can say for me as emphatically as you can put it," Mr. Hugo declared today, "that I am in the fight to stay and all that talk that I will not enter the primaries, if the convention should fail to designate me, is utterly absurd.

"I have played the game fair and square and popular sentiment for me, expressed in all parts of the state, should force the leaders to recognize my candidacy by designating me. In any event, I will fight to a finish and nothing else on the ticket but the governorship will satisfy me. I long ago served notice that I was a candidate for governor and nothing will change my mind."

This declaration of intention was made the more emphatic by the feeling among capital observers that the candidacy of ex-Judge Nathan L. Miller, of Syracuse, fostered by State Chairman George A. Glynn and certain of the "old guard" leaders, like some vaccinations "failed to take." The Miller boom is not obtaining the propulsion Governorwards that was expected and there is now some doubt in the face of repeated declarations by friends that he is not looking for the nomination, that the Syracusan will not permit himself to be "drafted" by the "old guard."

Further doubt that the convention will name Miller is gaining ground because of the denials of Senator Harding and Coolidge, presidential and vice-presidential nominees of Republican party, and Chairman Hays of the national committee that they had indorsed the Miller candidacy.

If Judge Miller if definitely put out of the race, Hugo followers plan to attempt to take the convention by storm and endeavor to force the leaders "to get on the bandwagon."

PRODUCE SALE AT COURT HOUSE

The quietude about the Ulster county court house that has been manifest since the last term of court was broken this morning when an auction of fruits and vegetables was held with Seth Jocelyn as the auctioneer. The articles were seized at the West Shore station by Sheriff Smith under an execution obtained by David Samuels a wholesale produce merchant on the Strand against Joseph Zenallo of Stamford, up the U. & D. railroad, who owed Samuels for goods, wares and merchandise sold and delivered. The articles which had been consigned by another downtown produce merchant consisted of two crates of muskmelons, two dozen bunches celery, two crates tomatoes, seven watermelons, four baskets of plums, two baskets beans, one bag peas. There were a number of bidders, among them hotel and restaurant men, and the articles seized were first put up by the piece, bringing a total of $23.25. Auctioneer Jocelyn then bunched the seizure and after lively bidding they were struck off to William H. Kolts for $25.75, he purchasing them for Harry Colburn the fruit and vegetable dealer on Broadway near Foxhall avenue. According to the opinion of men present at the sale, who know the wholesale market value of the fruits and vegetables sold, they brought a good price.

CASE WITHDRAWN.

Mrs. Melbert Drops Case Against Lenk Who Jumped Board Bill.

Alvin Lenk, a young chap from New York city, has learned his lesson, at least that is what he told Deputy Judge Shufeldt this morning in police court. Alvin has been spending the past two days in the county jail, simply because he skipped out without paying his board-bill. The complainant was Mrs. Katherine Melbert of 46 Lincoln street.

This morning Mrs. Melbert received a letter from young Lenk's mother. She stated she would send the money for the bill on the receipt of the amount. Mrs Melbert told the judge that Lenk had come to her house on the third of July and had stayed until July 13. Her rates are $12 per week, lodging and board. When Lenk took French leave, Mrs. Melbert swore out a warrant for his arrest. He was arrested Monday noon by Officer Sime Wood.

He told the judge this morning that he was sorry, that he had learned his lesson, but he said he could not find work and had decided to go back to the city. He admitted that there were a few places he had skipped on his quest for employment. On his promise to remain with Mrs. Melbert until his mother sent the money for his board, Judge Shufeldt allowed Mrs. Melbert to withdraw the case.

MILK GOES UP IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Milk dealers in Poughkeepsie have raised the price of milk one cent a quart, the raise going into effect on Monday. The raise in price is mutual and was made by all the dealers, the reason given being that the farmer is now receiving an extra cent a quart which makes a profit impossible without a raise in price.

Grade "A" milk was advanced by the Farmers' Co-Operative Milk Company from 16 cents a quart to 17 cents, while Grade B was increased from 15 cents to 16 cents. Half pints of heavy cream have been advanced from 22 to 24 cents, pints from 43 to 45 cents and the quarts have gone up from 80 to 85 cents.

The farmers are now being paid 7 cents a quart for the milk as it comes from the farm, in place of the former price of 6 cents, this being given as the cause of the advance.

TRIES TO TAKE 3-MONTHS BRIDE

Elmer Cadieux Follows Biglers to Newburgh Where he Claims Mrs. Herman Bigler, Former Port Ewen Girl, as His Wife—Advertised Here for Levina Newkirk.

Mrs. Herman Bigler, who before her marriage three months ago was Margaret Lynn of Port Ewen, the couple now living in Newburgh, had the strange experience last Sunday of having a stranger claim her as his wife as she was about to enter her own home in company with her husband and his father.

The incident really began at the West Shore station here Sunday evening where Mr. and Mrs. Bigler and the former's father were waiting for a train to Newburgh after having spent the day in Port Ewen with the wife's relatives. Mrs. Bigler later recalled that the stranger, who gave the name of Elmer Cadieux, looked intently at the group as they stood at the station and his interest grew as he sat near them in the train, where he was finally warned by Mr. Bigler to let them alone. Upon reaching Newburgh Cadieux followed them, hiding behind trees when Grand sreet was reached, and as the party was about to enter their home he accosted them and claimed Mrs. Bigler as his wife.

The Biglers were amazed and, brushing by Cadieux, entered the door, whereupon he went to police headquarters and asked for a warrant for all the party, saying he had seen his wife "going into a hotel with two men." He was told by the police that they could do nothing and shortly afterward the three Biglers appeared bringing with them proofs of Mrs. Bigler's identity and the marriage certificate of Mr. and Mrs. Bigler.

Cadieux insisted that he was right and produced a photograph of a large, dark haired woman as further proof. Mrs. Bigler is rather small and decidedly fair and the complete dissimilarity was apparent to all but Cadieux who said Mrs. Bigler's hair was bleached. A letter from Cadieux's wife which he produced also failed to show any similarity to the handwriting of Mrs. Bigler. Finally Cadieux was told to get out and leave the three alone and should he further annoy Mrs. Bigler it is the intention of her husband to have him arrested.

The Freeman has printed several advertisements and one news item seeking information as to the whereabouts of Levina Newkirk, who it is claimed was married to Elmer Cadieux on May 23, 1913, in New York. Mrs. L. M. Howard of 231 West 97th street, New York, has been greatly interested in Cadieux's search and wrote several letters to this paper also sending Levina Newkirk's picture. Recently the Newkirk girl, who is very comely, called at The Freeman office and said she had notified Mrs. Howard of her whereabouts. Cadieux gave his address to the Newburgh police as 231 West 27th street, New York city.

ALL MAY VOTE IN CAUCUS SATURDAY

Enrollment Not Necessary So Long As You Are Not Enrolled in a Party Other Than The Republican.

Saturday evening, July 24th, at 8 o'clock, Republican caucuses will be held in Ulster county when three delegates will be elected in each of the election districts in the towns and in the city of Kingston to attend an unofficial county convention to be held at the Kingston Opera House at 11 o'clock, August 2nd. At this convention the delegates will recommend to the Republican electors of the 27th Congressional district the county's choice for the nomination for member of congress; will recommend to the Republican electors of the 29th Senatorial district the county's choice for the nomination for state senator; will recommend to the Republican electors of Ulster county candidates for the nomination for surrogate, sheriff, coroner and member of assembly; also will transact such other business that may come before the convention. The convention will be a large one as owing to there being a number of candidates for recommendation for nomination for surrogate and sheriff the full quota from the 88 districts of the county will probably be in attendance, being 264 delegates. As has been the custom the delegates will be the guests of the Ulster County Republican Club at a dinner which will probably be served at The Stuyvesant and at the Eagle hotel, the number being too large for one hotel to cater to at about the regular dinner hour.

All persons, both male and female, who believe in the principles of the Republican party and endorse its policies, and who are not enrolled in any other party may vote at the caucuses on Saturday evening.

Beauty in Bells.

There is a beauty in bells which is fast being lost to the modern world. Since we cannot keep them in use as they were hundreds of years ago, we must try to keep up an interest in those which remain, and learn what we can about one of the chief beauties of the Middle ages. See how many references to bells can be found in great literature. There is one poem which stands out and which we all should know, "The Bells," by Edgar Allan Poe.—Brooklyn Eagle.

It is sufficiently sweet because of its own sugar developed in the making.

There is a particular richness to Grape-Nuts not found in any other food of prepared grains. Why not order a package from the grocer and share in its pleasures and economies?

ROTARIANS HEAR OF CONVENTION

And Especially of Judge Huggins and His Ten Commandments—Plan a Trip to Port Jervis Next Week.

Kingston Rotarians had the pleasure at their noon luncheon today of hearing a continuation of the report of the Atlantic City convention, which was begun a week ago by C. R. Stull, one of the delegates. According to Mr. Stull there are now 744 Rotary Clubs with a total membership of 53,642. Nearly 10,000 Rotarians and guests attended the convention, which was opened with prayer by Father Ryan, pastor of a small Catholic Church in Lancaster, Penn. Other clergymen who took part later were a Jewish rabbi and several Protestants. Mr. Stull was especially impressed by the address of Judge Huggins, of the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations, whose Ten Commandments for avoiding industrial disputes are as follows:

To Organized Labor.

First—Thou shalt not permit any of thy members to place the union card above our country's flag.

Second—Thou shalt not deny to any man, at any time, in any place, the right to work as a free man and to receive wages as such.

Third—Thou shalt not demand for any worker a good day's wage in return for a bad day's service.

To Capital.

Fourth—Thou shalt pay a fair living wage to each and every of thy workers.

Fifth—Thou shalt furnish a safe and healthful place in which, and safe appliances with which, thy employes may work.

Sixth—Thou shalt operate thy business as continuously as its nature will permit, to the end that labor shall be regularly employed and that the public may not suffer for the living necessities furnished throughout the medium of thy activities.

Seventh—Thou shalt not demand extortionate profits, but shall be content with a fair return upon thy investment used and useful in thy business.

To The General Public.

Eighth—Thou shalt willingly pay a fair price for all commodities required by thee from labor and capital, to the end that labor shall have a just reward and capital a fair return.

Ninth—Thou shalt pay thy taxes cheerfully and honestly, to the end that the obligations of the state to all its people may be promptly and properly fulfilled, liberty and justice safeguarded and the general welfare assured.

To Everybody.

Tenth—Thou shalt honor and love thy government, for it is the people's government, the best ever devised by man, and there is none other like it in all the world.

Next week the Rotary Club will have an evening dinner and will be addressed by Colonel Cressy, who will describe his travels in Serbia. Plans are being made for a delegation to visit Port Jervis on the afternoon and evening of July 29.

[illegible] Unhappy Thoughts.

If you wish to attract friends and to do your best work, keep your mind filled with sunshine, with beauty and truth, with cheerful and uplifting thoughts; bury everything that makes you unhappy and discordant, everything that cramps your freedom and worries you. Every motor highway and byway throughout picturesque New England and New York is a part of the long "Socony Trail".

THE Standard Oil Company Of New York was a pioneer in the oil refining industry. It has made petroleum history by constantly improving the quality of its products, and by discovering and developing new ones.

Socony products and service have kept pace with every step of progress made in the petroleum industry—and with every requirement of those who depend upon it in any way.

As a result, Socony gasoline today represents half a century of refining experience. It is truly the standard of quality motor fuels. Socony stations are ever increasing in number because motorists are demanding, more and more, a uniformly clean and powerful gasoline, easily obtainable.

Because Socony is always uniform, it always gives full mileage with low carbonization. And this is true whether you buy it in Bar Harbor or Buffalo. The economy of a permanent carburetor adjustment is possible only when you can obtain your regular gasoline whenever you need it. Socony service enables Socony users to do this.

For complete motoring satisfaction, begin using Socony regularly today.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE PLATYPUS.

"I don't believe any creature is just like me," said Mr. Platypus.

"I am," said Mrs. Platypus.

"I mean outside the family," said Mr. Platypus.

"Then you should have said what you meant in the first place instead of wasting all this valuable time," said Mrs. Platypus.

"Why is the time valuable and why shouldn't I waste it?" asked Mr. Platypus. "I am sure a platypus should have some rights in the world. He's a part of it."

"But a queer part," said Mrs. Platypus.

"You are as rude to yourself as you are to me when you say that," said Mr. Platypus, "so I don't mind."

"Glad of that," said Mrs. Platypus.

"Why is time valuable and why shouldn't I waste it if I want to?" asked Mr. Platypus.

"Because it is valuable, as the same time never comes again."

"Two o'clock comes every day at two o'clock and six o'clock comes very day at six o'clock, and eight o'clock comes every day at eight o'clock," said Mr. Platypus.

"But the eight o'clock of yesterday doesn't come back again. The time that has past doesn't come back again. That's what I mean," said Mrs. Platypus. "Of course, I don't care if you waste the time, but some folks make a great fuss about time and whether it is wasted or not."

"Well, don't let us bother," said Mr. Platypus.

"Oh, all right," said Mrs. Platypus.

"I was saying," began Mr. Platypus, "that I don't believe there are any other creatures like our family. Now I am a mixture of animal and fish and bird. I have a bill like a duck and my feet are web feet. My tail is queer and horny.

"I like to live by the sea or else in the forests. There is a good variety for you."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Platypus.

"I'm very, very old. When I'm pleased I rub my back on a rock. I dive very well, too.

"Now, some creatures, when they're pleased, laugh; others smile, some jump up and down with joy. Some chuckle and some grunt and some sniff with pleasure.

"Some whistle and some talk cheerfully. All of these things are very usual to do. I wouldn't do them because they are so usual.

"It isn't every creature, as I said before, that can be fish and animal and bird at the same time. I can swim, and yet I enjoy the forests, as I said before, too.

"I Rub My Back."

"And as I'm so different from all other creatures I should behave differently."

"And you do," said Mrs. Platypus.

"And so do you," said Mr. Platypus.

"Well," he continued, "if I were but a bird I would sing and do things like that.

"If I were but a fish I would swim and look at creatures out of my glassy eyes.

"If I were but a land animal I would walk about and get my food and become friendly with many men and women and children—if I were a friendly sort of animal.

"But as I'm a platypus and as even my name is different I must do everything in an unusual and interesting way.

"It strikes me that the most interesting thing I do is the way I show how joyful I am.

"And you show how joyful you are in the same way. It takes a creature with some brains to think of being cheerful in the way I am.

"Some creatures wouldn't think of rubbing their backs against a stone to show they were happy. It would never enter the heads of some creatures, if any.

"I can't imagine the creature they call a child for instance saying:

"Oh, goodie, I have a new toy. I am so delighted I must at once find a rock and rub my back up against it to show how pleased I am!"

"I can't imagine a child saying that from what I've heard of them," said Mrs. Platypus.

"Ah, be thankful you're a platypus, as I am thankful and let us rub our backs on yonder rocks."

Which, without another word, they did.

Scents Act as Tonics.

According to the latest medical dictum the man or woman who delights in perfumes is well-advised to indulge this taste, providing they don't use heavy odors. It seems that eau de Cologne, and any fresh flower scent has a slightly stimulating effect upon people, and in the early spring the use of perfume helps one to throw off the feeling of lassitude that is so often a characteristic of the season. In the summer, too, or whenever one is tired, the rejuvenating effect of a bath pleasantly perfumed is marked.

General's Magical Influence.

General Gordon's almost magical influence arose from the all-pervading sense, inspired by his mere presence, that here was a man who always was, and always would be inflexibly true to his highest conviction. When he was in the Soudan, he never hesitated to place outside his tent the white handkerchief, which meant, as all men knew, that he was at prayer and that, during that sacred hour when he was alone with God, he must not be disturbed.—F. H. Cheley in "Stories for Talks to Boys."

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 21, 1920.

THE FOOL AND HIS MONEY.

The wealthiest people per capita in the world are the Osage Indians of Oklahoma. For some time each member of the tribe has been receiving $8,000 annually and this year each will get between $9,000 and $10,000. Their sudden opulence results from the discovery of rich deposits of oil, gas and minerals underlying their tribal lands. In consequence they have retired from the corn and cotton fields and left labor to others. They have dropped their "blankets" for the richest and most gaudy apparel. They no longer dance to the old gourd-rattle but to the strains from expensive music boxes. There are now many families of half a dozen adult members in which "each member owns from one to three automobiles, and super-sizes at that." Such an orgy of reckless spending was never known and yet the Osages ought to be putting most of their money into interest-paying investments, for their golden river will run dry in eleven years, 1931 being the expiration of the period for which their oil and mineral lands are held in trust.

Investigating agents sent by the House Committee on Indian Affairs say that the Osages, now so rich, will become a public charge in eleven years the richest Indians becoming the poorest unless their madness can be checked. They are blamed for their foolish prodigality and inability to foresee a rainy day ahead, but countless white people all over the country are throwing easy money around with similar recklessness. The Osages are less to blame because they could not be expected to know better. It is not a red man's but a white man's proverb that a fool and his money are soon parted.

CROPS AND CARS.

Food ought to become cheaper in no great while now that there is certain knowledge of unexpectedly abundant crops in both Canada and the United States. Reduction in prices would seem to be inevitable if the new crops could be moved promptly to the markets, but this is a very serious remaining difficulty. Nature has done her part nobly aided by industrious farmers. We read that there are over 28,000,000 bushels more wheat than was expected a month ago, seven millions more bushels of oats and eight million more of barley. There is promise of eleven million more bushels of rice than was ever produced before and of 112,000,000 pounds of tobacco above the previous maximum. Corn will be a full though not a record-breaking crop. The old and new stock of wheat together will amount to 866,000,000 bushels.

There is plenty for all, but distribution is the difficulty. There are nearly fifty millions of old wheat on the farms as compared with nineteen million bushels a year ago. It is stated that 480 cars a day for two months could not get the old crop of wheat out of Kansas alone. From all accounts the railroads have neither the cars nor the general capacity to accomplish the needed work. The spur of absolute necessity which accomplished the movement of soldiers and military supplies during the war is now absent and the railroads under private control are staggering beneath their burdens more noticeably than ever. It seems that for years railroad capacity has failed to expand in proportion to the expansion in production and commerce, and this problem is one of the most important now presented for solution.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Mr. Marshall has humorously intimated that he finds the vice-presidency a rather dull and uninteresting job. If Senator Harding should be elected and carry out his proposed plan to invite the vice-president to sit in the cabinet and take part in its conversations with the freedom of a member, Governor Coolidge would not, like Mr. Marshall, pine for greater usefulness and more active employment. This proposition is likely to strike thinking observers favorably, for such a change would not only more fully employ the talents of the vice-president but would give the president the benefit of the counsel and aid of his running mate.

Of course it was promptly asked if such a change would be constitutional. The answer, in brief, is that inasmuch as the cabinet is not a constitutionally provided body (only heads for the various departments are provided), the president can do with it as he chooses. No doubt it is as much within his powers to invite the presence and assistance of the vice-president as it is to create a new cabinet portfolio, which has been done in recent years. A wisely chosen vice-president, one would think, could be the president's most able adviser. Moreover, the adoption of such a plan would give the vice-president the schooling and experience he would have need of in case his accession to the president's chair.

Some real facts about

COFFEE

Time has dispelled many old illusions. Coal was once condemned as "injurious" and burned openly in the market place as a "public nuisance."

For ten centuries the nations of the earth have enjoyed the benefits of coffee. Yet in this enlightened day coffee is sometimes declared "injurious"—another form of superstition.

Coffee plays its part in the homes of the millions—three times a day every day. Coffee helped to win he war. It fed suffering Belgium. In Holland coffee is always ready to serve—and its people are healthy.

You will find in REYNOLD'S RELIANCE a coffee of unsurpassed flavor and aroma. And our scientific process of roasting and grinding makes RELIANCE as healthful as it is delicious.

Remember to ask for RELIANCE. It is always fresh at your grocers—guaranteed to please or your money back. Wm. T. Reynolds & Company, Inc., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

HOME NURSING AT ASBURY

The first meeting of the Home Nursing Course at Asbury as conducted by the Ulster County Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. W. Grant Trumpbour last Thursday afternoon. There were members and visitors from West Camp, Kaatsbaan as well as Asbury.

The subject for that afternoon was "The care of the Patient and Sick Room" The demonstrations covering this subject were very ably given by Miss Ryan, the county Red Cross visiting nurse. In her demonstration Miss Ryan first showed the making of the bed for the patient, the bathing of the patient, changing the bed with the patient in it, taking pulse and temperatures, and the many other points the home nurse needs to know when taking care of the sick. Besides these, Miss Ryan also demonstrated the making of mustard pastes and linseed poultices. This part as well as the others interested the women very much and brought out many interesting discussions. Miss Mildred Trumpbour took the part of the patient and although far from ill was a very good patient.

Everyone present agreed that they had had an especially profitable afternoon and with one accord gave Miss Ryan a rising vote of thanks for the splendid demonstration she had given in such a clear and interesting way.

Dr. L. Emerick of Saugerties is to take the next meeting of this course, and his subject will be "First Aid to the Sick and Injured". This meeting will be held in the Grange Hall on Thursday July 22nd at 2:30 p. m. old time. Everyone is invited and urged to attend. The third meeting of this course will take place Wednesday August 4th. The subject will be "Food for the Sick" and the demonstration will be given by Miss Stuart, Home Bureau Manager.

Muller Resumes Teaching Violin.

Prof. George H. Muller, conductor of the former Symphony Orchestra and of our theater orchestras, who has been teaching violin to the young people of this vicinity for the past 19 years, has moved his studio from the Crosby building, where for so long he was located, to a fine new studio in the Keeney Theater building, the entrance to which is through the entrance way to the theater. Mr. Muller will be at his new studio over the lobby of the theater for teaching or arranging for lessons between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30 in the afternoon. Mornings he may be reached by telephone at his home, call 633-F-12, and afternoons calling 271.

Continuous Performances.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, July 21—Moving pictures this evening in Pythian Hall at 8.30 o'clock.

A most brilliant affair was held in Merritt Every's garage on Broadway Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies of the Methodist Church. A very large crowd enjoyed the cafeteria supper and the music furnished by McLean's orchestra of Kingston. We surely appreciate the courtesy of Mr. Every for the use of his garage and the Tuderoff brothers, electrical contractors, for the illumination and Schuyler Ougheltree for the use of his flags and the beautiful decorations of the garage and to Mr. Giddings for his stationery goods and contributing the profits for the sale of his stationery supplies. The whole affair was a huge success, many out-of-town people were present and were loud in their praises of this the first affair of the kind ever held in Port Ewen.

Mrs. Harry Mabie, chairman of the community cafeteria supper, wishes through the columns of the Kingston Daily Freeman, to thank all who contributed to the supper in any way and thus made possible such a complete successful affair.

The Deputy of Esopus Council, Mrs. Netherwood from Kingston, will be present and install the newly elected officers of Esopus Council No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty this evening in their rooms in Spinneweber's Hall on Broadway.

Mrs. Robert Hayes and sons, William and Robert, Jr., of New York city, are guests of Mrs. William Silk on Tilden street.

Miss Hilda Hotaling of Covetsville, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Carey Secor on Broadway.

Mrs. Arthur Miller and daughter Dorothy of New York, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Miller on Hudson street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Hutchings, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E Hutchings on Broadway, have returned to their home in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs Louis Suffir, who have spent a few days in New York city, have returned to their home on Bayard street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C Gray of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Quigley on Stout avenue.

Preparations are under way for the block party to be held Thursday evening July 29th, on Main street, Port Ewen, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor and Epworth League societies auxiliaries of the Reformed and Methodist churches. Last year the societies held their first block party on Green street and it proved a most wonderful success, both socially and financially, and we are hoping for the same generous patronage as last year as these young people are making every effort to make the affair the best ever and need all the encouragement, all the citizens of Port Ewen and the suburban places can give them by your presence and in so doing help along a most worthy cause. Following is the menu which is both appetizing and filling:

Japanese Booth.

Orangeade and fruize, cake and ice cream.

Domestic Booth.

Frankfurters and rolls.

Tulip Booth.

Surprise packages. South Carolina product, watermelon, candy.

Mystery tent, moving pictures and a first class entertainment. Admission 10 cents for adults, 5 cents for children under 10 years.

John Appeldoorn, son of Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Appeldoorn, who was recently operated on for the removal of his tonsils and adenoids, at the Kingston City Hospital by Drs. Ross and Chandler, is getting along fine and we all hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. A. Lefever who has been quite ill at her home on Broadway is improving.

Home Versus House.

Home cannot be given us. We may be given a house, a place to eat and sleep. This is not a home. A home is a place of love and rest and peace. Love and rest and peace must be deserved, must be earned. Nobody can hand them to you as so many packages. They are matters of reciprocity. If you have none to give there will be but little for you to receive.—Western Methodist.

THE FOOL AND HIS MONEY.

The wealthiest people per capita in the world are the Osage Indians of Oklahoma. For some time each member of the tribe has been receiving $8,000 annually and this year each will get between $9,000 and $10,000. Their sudden opulence results from the discovery of rich deposits of oil, gas and minerals underlying their tribal lands. In consequence they have retired from the corn and cotton fields and left labor to others. They have dropped their "blankets" for the richest and most gaudy apparel. They no longer dance to the old gourd-rattle but to the strains from expensive music boxes. There are now many families of half a dozen adult members in which "each member owns from one to three automobiles, and super-sixes at that." Such an orgy of reckless spending was never known and yet the Osages ought to be putting most of their money into interest-paying investments, for their golden river will run dry in eleven years, 1931 being the expiration of the period for which their oil and mineral lands are held in trust.

Investigating agents sent by the House Committee on Indian Affairs say that the Osages, now so rich, will become a public charge in eleven years the richest Indians becoming the poorest unless their madness can be checked. They are blamed for their foolish prodigality and inability to foresee a rainy day ahead, but countless white people all over the country are throwing easy money around with similar recklessness. The Osages are less to blame because they could not be expected to know better. It is not a red man's but a white man's proverb that a fool and his money are soon parted.

CROPS AND CARS.

Food ought to become cheaper in no great while now that there is certain knowledge of unexpectedly abundant crops in both Canada and the United States. Reduction in prices would seem to be inevitable if the new crops could be moved promptly to the markets, but this is a very serious remaining difficulty. Nature has done her part nobly aided by industrious farmers. We read that there are over 28,000,000 bushels more wheat than was expected a month ago, seven millions more bushels of oats and eight million more of barley. There is promise of eleven million more bushels of rice than was ever produced before and of 112,000,000 pounds of tobacco above the previous maximum. Corn will be a full though not a record-breaking crop. The old and new stock of wheat together will amount to 850,000,000 bushels.

There is plenty for all, but distribution is the difficulty. There are nearly fifty millions of old wheat on the farms as compared with nineteen million bushels a year ago. It is stated that 480 cars a day for two months could not get the old crop of wheat out of Kansas alone. From all accounts the railroads have neither the cars nor the general capacity to accomplish the needed work. The spur of absolute necessity which accomplished the movement of soldiers and military supplies during the war is now absent and the railroads under private control are staggering beneath their burdens more noticeably than ever. It seems that for years railroad capacity has failed to expand in proportion to the expansion in production and commerce, and this problem is one of the most important now presented for solution.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Mr. Marshall has humorously intimated that he finds the vice-presidency a rather dull and uninteresting job. If Senator Harding should be elected and carry out his proposed plan to invite the vice-president to sit in the cabinet and take part in its discussions with the freedom of a member, Governor Coolidge would not, like Mr. Marshall, pine for greater usefulness and more active employment. This proposition is likely to strike thinking observers favorably, for such a change would not only more fully employ the talents of the vice-president but would give the president the benefit of the counsel and aid of his running mate.

Of course it was promptly asked if such a change would be constitutional. The answer, in brief, is that inasmuch as the cabinet is not a constitutionally provided body (only heads for the various departments are provided), the president can do with it as he chooses. No doubt it is as much within his powers to invite the presence and assistance of the vice-president as it is to create a new cabinet portfolio, which has been done in recent years. A wisely chosen vice-president, one would think, could be the president's most able adviser. Moreover, the adoption of such a plan would give the vice-president the schooling and experience he would have need of in case his accession to the president's chair.

COFFEE

Time has dispelled many old illusions. Coal was once condemned as "injurious" and burned openly in the market place as a "public nuisance."

For ten centuries the nations of the earth have enjoyed the benefits of coffee. Yet in this enlightened day coffee is sometimes declared "injurious"—another form of superstition.

Coffee plays its part in the homes of the millions—three times a day every day. Coffee helped to win he war. It fed suffering Belgium. In Holland coffee is always ready to serve—and its people are healthy.

You will find in REYNOLD'S RELIANCE a coffee of unsurpassed flavor and aroma. And our scientific process of roasting and grinding makes RELIANCE as healthful as it is delicious.

HOME NURSING AT ASBURY

The first meeting of the Home Nursing Course at Asbury as conducted by the Ulster County Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. Grant Trumpbour last Thursday afternoon. There were members and visitors from West Camp, Kaatsban as well as Asbury.

The subject for that afternoon was "The care of the Patient and Sick Room". The demonstrations covering this subject were very ably given by Miss Ryan, the county Red Cross visiting nurse. In her demonstration Miss Ryan first showed the making of the bed for the patient, the bathing of the patient, changing the bed with the patient in it, taking pulse and temperatures, and the many other points the home nurse needs to know when taking care of the sick. Besides these, Miss Ryan also demonstrated the making of mustard pastes and linseed poultices. This part as well as the others interested the women very much and brought out many interesting discussions. Miss Mildred Trumpbour took the part of the patient and although far from ill was a very good patient.

Everyone present agreed that they had had an especially profitable afternoon and with one accord gave Miss Ryan a rising vote of thanks for the splendid demonstration she had given in such a clear and interesting way.

Dr. L. Emerick of Saugerties is to take the next meeting of this course, and his subject will be "First Aid to the Sick and Injured". This meeting will be held in the Grange Hall on Thursday July 22nd at 2:30 p. m. old time. Everyone is invited and urged to attend. The third meeting of this course will take place Wednesday August 4th. The subject will be "Food for the Sick" and the demonstration will be given by Miss Stuart, Home Bureau Manager.

Prof. George H. Muller, conductor of the former Symphony Orchestra and of our theater orchestras, who has been teaching violin to the young people of this vicinity for the past 19 years, has moved his studio from the Crosby building, where for so long he was located, to a fine new studio in the Keeney Theater building, the entrance to which is through the entrance way to the theater. Mr. Muller will be at his new studio over the lobby of the theater for teaching or arranging for lessons between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30 in the afternoon. Mornings he may be reached by telephone at his home, call 633-F-12, and afternoons calling 271.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, July 21—Moving pictures this evening in Pythian Hall at 8.30 o'clock.

A most brilliant affair was held in Merritt Every's garage on Broadway Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies of the Methodist Church. A very large crowd enjoyed the cafeteria supper and the music furnished by McLean's orchestra of Kingston. We surely appreciate the courtesy of Mr. Every for the use of his garage and the Tuderoff brothers, electrical contractors, for the illumination and Schuyler Ougheltree for the use of his flags and the beautiful decorations of the garage and to Mr. Giddings for his stationery goods and contributing the profits for the sale of his stationery supplies. The whole affair was a huge success, many out-of-town people were present and were loud in their praises of this the first affair of the kind ever held in Port Ewen.

Mrs. Harry Mabie, chairman of the community cafeteria supper, wishes through the columns of the Kingston Daily Freeman, to thank all who contributed to the supper in any way and thus made possible such a complete successful affair.

The Deputy of Esopus Council, Mrs. Netherwood from Kingston, will be present and install the newly elected officers of Esopus Council No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty this evening in their rooms in Spinneweber's Hall on Broadway.

Mrs. Robert Hayes and sons, William and Robert, Jr., of New York city, are guests of Mrs. William Silk on Tilden street.

Miss Hilda Hotaling of Coytesville, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Carey Secor on Broadway.

Mrs. Arthur Miller and daughter Dorothy of New York, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Miller on Hudson street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Hutchings, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Hutchings on Broadway, have returned to their home in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Suffir, who have spent a few days in New York city, have returned to their home on Bayard street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Gray of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs Charles E. Quigley on Stout avenue.

Preparations are under way for the block party to be held Thursday evening July 29th, on Main street, Port Ewen, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor and Epworth League societies auxiliaries of the Reformed and Methodist churches. Last year the societies held their first block party on Green street and it proved a most wonderful success, both socially and financially, and we are hoping for the same generous patronage as last year as these young people are making every effort to make the affair the best ever and need all the encouragement, all the citizens of Port Ewen and the suburban places can give them by your presence and in so doing help along a most worthy cause. Following is the menu which is both appetizing and filling:

Japanese Booth.

Orangeade and fruice, cake and ice cream.

Domestic Booth.

Frankfurters and rolls.

Tulip Booth.

Surprise packages. South Carolina product, watermelon, candy.

Mystery tent, moving pictures and a first class entertainment. Admission 10 cents for adults, 5 cents for children under 10 years.

John Appeldoorn, son of Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Appeldoorn, who was recently operated on for the removal of his tonsils and adenoids, at the Kingston City Hospital by Drs. Ross and Chandler, is getting along fine and we all hope for his speedy recovery.

Mrs. A. Lefever who has been quite ill at her home on Broadway is improving.

Home Versus House.

Home cannot be given us. We may be given a house, a place to eat and sleep. This is not a home. A home is a place of love and rest and peace. Love and rest and peace must be deserved, must be earned. Nobody can hand them to you as so many packages. They are matters of reciprocity. If you have none to give there will be but little for you to receive.—Western Methodist.

MILK DEALERS EXPLAIN REASONS

dairies. He presumed other dealers followed the same practice as a matter of protection to themselves, as one lot of milk that might not be cared for properly would be apt to spoil the entire lot.

"It is not done in most cities of the state," said Dr. Porter, "because it would be impracticable."

Dr. Beatty said that at the last meeting of the board of health the percentage of butterfats required had been reduced to three per cent. There was no market price for skim milk. As a matter of economy he did not think it economical to throw such milk away, but there was no use for it.

"If it is good for pigs, it must be good for human beings," said Dr. Porter.

Mr. Adin, who was called as a witness in place of his father, who is ill, said his father distributed only; that there were six employes used exclusively in the milk business and the average daily distribution was six hundred quarts. There was no surplus milk now but instead they ran short from 15 to 20 cans weekly. Of the skim milk they churned what they could and threw the rest in the sewer.

"Why don't you try to sell it as skim milk?" inquired Dr. Porter.

"I think there is a regulation against it," said Mr. Adin.

The price now being paid to producers for milk was from 7½ to 12 cents a quart, the latter price being paid to Delaware county creameries when they ran short.

"You wouldn't care what the price was, would you?" asked Dr. Porter.

"I pay what I have to when I need the milk," said Adin. League prices were paid for about 60 per cent of the milk they bought. He thought it would be more economical if there was one distributing system under one head. He would rather deliver in bottles than to dip milk because it saved time; he did not think he made more out of bottled milk.

"You must be an exception to the rule," said Dr. Porter.

Adin said it probably was cheaper to deliver dip milk because of the loss of bottles, but the local board of health prohibited it.

Clarence J. Babcock, who is both a producer and distributor, said he distributed 180 quarts a day and employed three people who devoted one-third of each day to such distribution. He bought 80 quarts daily. The surplus is skimmed and used on the farm, although occasionally he sold a can of skim milk at 60 cents per hundred. He considered it better to keep skim milk at home rather than sell it. The percentage of butterfats varied from 2.7 to 4.1 per cent, although he did not know he ever had sold milk with the lower percentage of fats. The board of health takes a sample once a month and made a report.

"Do you believe these reports are correct?" asked Dr. Porter.

"I wouldn't want to answer that," said Mr. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock did not think that milk could be properly distributed from one distributing center under one management because past experience is against it.

"Past experience is against you but I won't stop to argue it," said Dr. Porter. "But the experience in other cities has been different."

"I agree to that," said Mr. Babcock.

Dr. Porter said he was persuaded that if the milk distribution could be placed under one head, with one distributing center, the cost would be reduced. It was impracticable to sweep people out of business, but the question of cost of distribution was being put up to dealers everywhere with increasing force.

Mr. Babcock asked if such a plan was in operation in larger cities.

Dr. Porter said it was in successful operation in Johnstown but outside of that city, only in smaller places so far as New York state was concerned.

Owen Cassidy said he distributed 217 quarts daily and three people were engaged in the work. He allowed $2 per day for ice, which was practically one cent a quart. Ice, he said, is high in Kingston. In coldest winter weather he did not use ice, but he did in mild weather. Last year his ice cost him about $10 a ton, and last winter he stored 17. Of the three people handling his milk, one devoted his time exclusively to it, and two others worked for two hours each. For rent of plant and stables, he paid $50; the horses were also used for farm work, which was not included in the milk cost as reported on his questionnaire. Last winter he put up about 100 tons of ice at a cost of between $3 and $4 per ton.

"There is no reason why ice should cost one cent for each quart of milk for anyone legitimately engaged in the milk business," said Dr. Porter.

"Would you make more money if you distributed 1,200 quarts a day?" he asked.

Mr. Cassidy said he supposed he would.

Mr. Cassidy thought so. He thought also that in time—perhaps in a year or two—there might be distribution from one center under one management, and concluded by announcing that his milk business was for sale.

Charles DeForrest, distributor of 300 quarts a day, said he delivered the milk alone and his wife worked all day washing bottles, except one day a week when a substitute took her place. He covers eighteen miles per day with a truck; averaging two-thirds of the houses on some streets and not any house on other streets. He preferred to sell dip milk, if he could, because then there would not be any extra work, and if he could sell dip milk at the same price received for bottled milk, he would not have to worry about broken or lost bottles. He did not believe he or any other man could make a profit at less than a 6½ cent differential, but did not believe some dealers were making that. He could sell dip milk one cent a quart cheaper.

K. A. Herdman said he now employed a helper but did not when he made out his questionnaire. He pays 30 cents per hundred pounds for ice. Surplus milk is churned and he sells the butter. He did not know whether he would make as much money by selling dip milk.

In answer to questions, Herdman said that in selling dip milk, there were two trips between house and wagon, while with bottled milk there was only one trip, which meant a saving of time.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Kraft was the only witness examined. He said that if he deducted loss of interest on investment, and depreciation on equipment and plant, the business of his company would show a slight profit for April and May. Since making out the department's questionnaire, he had increased wages $7 per day. He employed four drivers, one boy, one superintendent, three young women, one pasteurizer, one engineer who also makes the cheese and butter, and one bottle-washer—a total of twelve people, not including himself.

These people were required, said Mr. Kraft, to handle 1,643 quarts of milk per day, so that the figures of other dealers who testified at the morning session he did not consider out of the way.

"But that is higher than any other city," said Dr. Porter.

Of the milk handled, said Mr. Kraft, 653 quarts were sold at wholesale, 441 quarts at retail, 94 quarts at retail in pint bottles, 12 quarts of cream in one-half pint bottles, 21 quarts were buttermilk and 47 quarts on an average went into butter and cheese. The amount of milk used in ice cream also went in the total. Selling dip milk would make a considerable difference with him. The four wagons distribute 545 quarts at retail and some of the wholesale trade, including 30 stores which use from 12 to 40 quarts daily.

Since January first there had been considerable difficulty in getting bottles and he had to wait until bottles were brought in by the drivers, when they were washed and sterilized and then filled before they had been cooled. This might explain certain figures regarding the bacteria found on examination as pasteurization does not entirely destroy bacteria which multiplies rapidly at a certain temperature.

Mr. Kraft in this connection told an interesting incident with regard to three samples of milk, one of which was taken to the laboratory by the superintendent and found to have a count of 23,000; a sample taken from the wagon, whose count was 2,200, and a sample taken to the laboratory by him, which showed a count of 4,200. The sample taken by him had been placed in a pint bottle which while being washed by the superintendent had fallen in a tank of dirty water and simply rinsed out, then had fallen on and rolled along the floor after it had been filled, then rinsed out again and filled with milk, after which the superintendent had fumbled in adjusting the cap so that the bottle might be expected to contain a larger count than was found.

Mr. Kraft spoke about the inequality of the supply. On June 15 of last year 25 dairymen had furnished him with 2,979 quarts but were only able to supply 1,640 quarts on July 3, and only 1,592 quarts on August 15. In June, the surplus milk had to be converted into butter and cheese. In October, thirteen dairymen had supplied him with 43,154 quarts, but in November they could supply only 27,156 quarts. From early in June until the middle of September the Catskill hotels and boarding houses took all the milk that could be produced in that section.

Mr. Kraft also described the organization of the Dairymen's League whose meeting he had attended by accident, and said he had gone into the milk business in order to help them.

To Dr. Porter, he said that unification of the business whereby there would be one distributing center, where bottling could be done, and all milk cooled, there would necessarily be less expense in handling the milk, and it would also make it possible to buy the milk for less. This was an economical community, he said, by which he meant that industries which had flourished had disappeared and the community had found it necessary to economize.

Next month, said Mr. Kraft, the price of milk would be 8 1-2 cents and the next month it would be 9 cents, and next month every dealer would have to raise the price to the consumer one cent.

In regard to statements filed with Dr. Porter, the latter said they were like balance sheets—it depended on the kind of bookkeeping employed in making them out as to how they were to be regarded.

Baby Clinic Tomorrow.

Thursday afternoon there will be another of the increasingly popular baby clinics held at the city hall from 2 to 4 o'clock when Dr. Deiever and Miss McEntee, R. N., will be ready to help the mothers who bring their babies or advise with those who expect to become mothers. The first clinic, which had practically no advertising, took care of three babies. At last week's clinic there were ten babies brought, showing that the value of this clinic, which is quite free to the mothers of Kingston, is being more and more appreciated. There should be easily double last week's number at the clinic tomorrow, for these are the hardest days of the year for the little baby in any home.

Barber Shops Open Thursdays.

The Master Barbers' Association has decided to keep the barber shops of which the members are proprietors open hereafter on Thursday afternoons. For the past three Thursdays they closed their shops having voted to do so during July and August and now they have come to the conclusion that in order to cater to the transient trade which is quite large during the summer months that they will keep open on Thursday afternoons. Then, too, there were some barber shops, the owners of which did not belong to the association, open Thursday afternoons.

Cosmopolitan Switzerland.

Before the Romans conquered the territory now known as Switzerland, it was inhabited by a conglomeration of hostile tribes, for the most part of Celtic origin. But the district of the eastern Alps in which the present canton of the Grisons is situated was in possession of the Raeti, of mixed Latin and Etruscan stock. At the time of the Teutonic invasion of the Roman empire, Rhaetia received a certain number of German-speaking immigrants, and in the tenth century was used for a while as a basis of operations by the Saracen brigands, who made Europe unsafe.

The Stingy Man.

He was known as the stingiest man in town. The Sunday schools were planning a picnic and every one wondered what he would bring. The leader read off the menu and the different members offered to bring this or that. Then one young man said as he didn't have anyone to cook for him, he would bring the coffee. Then the stingy man spoke up and said: "I will bring the water for the coffee."

Two Tales of Finance the Features This Evening.

Does it pay to advertise? Bryant Washburn who is starring in this famous Broadway success "It Pays to Advertise" says it does. He portrays the role of a young man who makes a fortune on advertising by building up a trade mark and then selling it to his father, a millionaire soap manufacturer. This is said to be one of the most delightful comedy vehicles in which Mr. Washburn has yet appeared and he is surrounded with a cast of well known favorites. Also featured tonight are the Gaumont news weekly, the literary digest Pathe Review and Mutt and Jeff cartoons. Tomorrow Will Rogers in "Water, Water, Everywhere".

The Auditorium offers that stirring tale of high finance "The Man of the Hour" starring Major Robert Warwick as its special feature attraction today. This is from the great stage success of the same name and is well known throughout the country. Major Warwick has an excellent cast in support of this exciting play and movie fans are promised a rare treat in this admirable photoplay. Also a "Fatty" Arbuckle comedy and a very late International news weekly. Tomorrow Cleo Madison in "The Girl From Nowhere" and another western with William S. Hart.

Thunder and Lightning.

Thunder always follows lightning because of the electric discharge, as it breaks its way through the atmosphere, instantaneously heats the air in its path. This sudden heating causes a violent expansion of the air along the path of the lightning flash and a violent compression of the cool air farther away. This process starts a great air wave, which is the thunder. When a lightning flash occurs near by, the sharp, cracking reports come from its branches, and the heavy crash comes from the trunk of the flash.

Jud Tunkins.

Jud Tunkins says it might be better for the world if tombstones were more reliable. No matter what kind of a life a man leads, he's almost sure of a complimentary epitaph.

Average Life, Thirty-Three Years.

Good authorities give the average duration of human life as about thirty-three years. "All about me—Rodney Martin, A. B.

"Faced the world at an early age, with nothing but dad's millions, thirty suits of clothes and two bull pups.

"Found that my college education had failed to prepare me for the smell of pop's soap factory.

"Result: Started my own soap business—'13' soap—unlucky for dirt—the soap that will cleanse everything from baby's face to the politics of Europe.

FAST BALL GAME HERE SATURDAY

Kingston Team Will Hook Up With Phoenix Hose Players From Bridge City And Hope For 100 Per Cent Paid Admissions At Low Rate of 25 Cents.

The baseball fans of Kingston will be given another opportunity to see a mighty good baseball game when the newly organized Kingston team plays the team of Phoenix Hose Company of Poughkeepsie at the Athletic Field Saturday afternoon, July 24, at 3 o'clock. The Phoenix Hose team is said to be as fast as the Moline A. C. team of Poughkeepsie which was defeated last Saturday by the Kingston team, and the game this Saturday should be another interesting contest.

Kingston will probably use the same line-up against the Phoenix players as was used last week.

The following week, July 31st, the Kingston team will again meet the fast Crescent team from Newburgh at the Athletic Field. This team was the first one tackled by the Kingston players and administered a trimming to the local boys. Since the first game the local team has been greatly strengthened and the Kingston players are confident of coming back strong and beating the "Hilly City" team.

At the game Saturday when the Kingston team defeated the Moline A. C. of Poughkeepsie there was a very good attendance but only about 50 per cent of the attendance had paid. In bringing to Kingston such teams as have been brought here so far it has been necessary to put up a big guarantee and if the people of Kingston wish to see real baseball they ought to support the game. Although the attendance at the games so far has been good only a small part of the attendance payed to see the games, one-half of the people who enjoyed the game "deadheaded" their way on the frounds and gave little support to the local players.

When the local management decided to organize a baseball team the admission to be charged was one of the most serious matters which came up for discussion. It was finally decided to place the admission at 25 cents for a game rather than at a higher figure with the hopes that the local people would not hesitate at so small a sum for a good ball game. The game last Saturday was one of the best games ever played in Kingston by a local team and the local boys should have better support from the baseball fans of the city.

Sawkill Social.

An ice cream social will be held at St. Ann's Hall, Sawkill Thursday evening, July 22, at 8.30 o'clock. Good music will be on hand. The Woodstock stage leaves the Rose-Gorman-Rose store at 8 o'clock that evening. Numerous friends of Father Vaeth, the rector, will render him assistance.

Secures Position.

Miss Magdalene Brooks, an honor graduate of Spencer's Business School, Inc., has secured an excellent position as stenographer and typist with Sparry & Hutchinson, manufacturers of Green Trading Stamps, 114 Fifth avenue, New York city.

MUNICIPAL HOME RULE.

Mayors' Conference Asks Both Parties to Favor It.

At the annual conference of mayors and city officials held at Jamestown a resolution was passed recommending to the dominant political parties to include in their platforms a municipal home rule plank. Two committees were appointed, one to attend the Republican state convention and the other to attend the Democratic state convention. Both parties had a home rule plank in their state platforms two years ago. Mayor Canfield was appointed on the committee to present the proposition to the Republican state convention at Saratoga and to urge them to give favorable consideration to the matter when preparing the party declaration of principles. The other members of the Republican committee are former Mayor Walter R. Stone of Syracuse and Mayors Watt of Albany, Kreinheder of Buffalo, O'Connor of Utica, Kincaid of Mt. Vernon and Chamberlain of Johnstown.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 21.—The stock market was irregular at the opening today, with trading again on a small scale. The railway stocks featured the early business. Reading sold 2 points higher at 91. Southern Pacific advanced 1 point to 94. Canadian Pacific, after yielding to 119¾, rose to 120¾. Fractional advances were scored in the lower priced rails.

The market turned weak under realizing sales in the forenoon. Reading after advancing to 91⅝, reacted 1 point and the other railroad shares lost most of their early gains. Baldwin Locomotive after selling up to 118⅝, dropped to 117¾ and Steel Common fell ⅝ to 91⅛. United States Rubber dropped over 2 points to 91 and most of the motor issues were in supply at losses ranging up to two points.

The market, particularly the sugar stocks, showed a weak tone during the early afternoon, but the whole list turned strong around 2 o'clock.

The market closed irregular today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

RESOLUTE LED IN YACHT RACE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Aboard U. S. S. Goldsborough, off Sandy Hook, July 21.—(Via wireless)—Shamrock IV and Resolute started their third and what may be their final race for America's cup here at noon (eastern standard time) today. A victory for Sir Thomas Lipton's big green yacht today means that the trophy goes back to Great Britain.

Shamrock crossed the line first, slightly ahead of Resolute

At 1:15 the yachts were south of Shrewsbury Buoy and had sailed more than half the course to the outer mark. Resolute was leading by a quarter of a mile.

The yachts were about a mile and a half off shore at 1:25, Resolute gained slightly on every hitch.

At 1:50 both yachts were standing offshore for the mark.

The mark was about five miles ahead. Shamrock was being eased and her club top sails had shook nearly all the time. The breeze had increased to twelve knots and it was grand sailing, the best of the series. Resolute was nearly half a mile ahead.

Have Varying Rotations.

Other worlds, that circle around the sun much as we do, have different kinds of rotation from ours. Our satellite world, the moon, for instance, is a body with little rotation. The day is long there, two weeks in duration, and the night is equally long. On the planet Jupiter the whole day is less than ten hours long. If it were dawn there at what would be six in the morning, it would be noon at half past eight, dark at eleven, and light again at four, in what would be to us the afternoon. The sun would apparently race across the sky so fast that one could see it go.

Grease Spots.

When grease is spilled on a hardwood floor it can be hardened and scraped off if cold water is poured on. If it is not detected immediately, cover the grease spot with starch or powdered chalk, which will absorb most of the grease. It can then be washed off with hot soapsuds.

"KEEPING FIT" CAMPAIGN ON

In connection with the Home Nursing course which the members of the Ulster Home Bureau at West Hurley is taking up, Dr. C. C. Croff of the lecturer's staff of the State Department of Health, addressed some forty women girls over sixteen at the West Hurley Church Tuesday evening. It was the privilege of a Freeman reporter to be present. Dr. Croff, a Buffalo physician is a woman of the loftiest ideals coupled with highest professional and scientific standing. Since the world war and the shocking revelations disclosed by our drafting of our lads, we as a nation are awakening, at last to a realization of the need of clean living to our boys as well as for our girls if we are to continue to be a nation of characterful men and women, capable of holding our present enviable position in the world.

Every time such a splendid woman as Dr. Croff, makes plain to the womanhood of our country the need of right instruction of our little children regarding life's greatest miracle, the reproduction of life; and also gives such a clear wholesome, sane talk on sex diseases, the world at large will be a little better "fit" to forge ahead toward the kind of Americanism that will make this nation as potential in the future as it has been in the past; the land of clean homes where fine Christian character will be the rule and not the exception.

There was a similar meeting this afternoon at High Falls Reformed Church. Tonight Dr. Croff will address the Home Bureau women at the Methodist Church hall at Accord at 8 o'clock old time. On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock new time, Dr. Croff will speak at New Paltz Grange Hall and on the same evening at Modena Methodist Church at 8 o'clock old time.

"Holy Men" of India.

In India there are no less than 5,000,000 sadhus or holy men, usually ash besmeared and almost naked. Frequently these have chelas or disciples—boys who accompany them, begging for their master, being trained for this same life. To go about begging one's food from door to door, with saffron-colored robe, a begging bowl, an antelope skin on which to sit, a chain of beads with which to count one's prayers, and a blanket in cold weather—such are the old ideals of India as to the highest life to which a man could attain. Some believe that by unnecessary suffering, such as sitting on beds of spikes or swinging the head downward over a fire, they can attain deliverance.
